Other Indie Favorites

Life Among Giants: A Novel, by Bill Roorbach (Algonquin, $24.95) "Roorbach has given readers a totally unique family saga that is infused with love, sex, and murder. This is the kind of story that takes you on a journey from the very first page and races right along to the unforgettable conclusion. I was drawn in by the characters, both sympathetic and despicable. This is a great book to recommend to everyone." —Barbara Kelly, Portland Bookstore, University of Southern Maine, Portland, ME

A Possible Life: A Novel in Five Parts, by Sebastian Faulks (Henry Holt, $25) "This incredible novel traces the separate trajectories of five unforgettable lives in five different time periods. Each life story is expertly etched by Faulks, and each could stand alone, but the stories become even more compelling as they join to form a provocative whole." —Jenny Lyons, The King's English Bookshop, Salt Lake City, UT

Another Indie Favorite

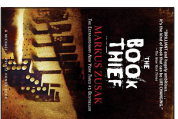

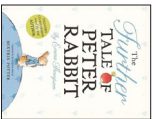

Angelmaker: A Novel, by Nick Harkaway (Vintage, $15.95) "It's hard for me to use my words, rather than just gush inarticulately about how good Angelmaker is, but I'll try. Not just any author could build a thriller out of some gears, a forgotten Victorian art critic, and a son's dissatisfaction with his father, much less a thriller of these proportions. And very few authors can boast the combination of smarts and heart that defines Harkaway's work. Harkaway has a singular voice, brilliant comic timing, and a deep feeling for the myriad ways the world is broken." —Jenn Northington, WORD, Brooklyn, NY

Another Indie Favorite for Ages 4 to 8

A Flower in the Snow, by Tracey Corderoy, Sophie Allsopp (illus.) (Sourcebooks Jabberwocky, $16.99)

"This is a wonderful little story of two best friends, Luna and Bear, and their special relationship. Bear thinks he needs to search to find the perfect gift for his friend, but when he returns he discovers that the best gift of all is the special friendship that he shares with Luna. The illustrations are warm and inviting and add to the special feeling of the story. This is perfect to recommend as a special quiet-time book for 'young children.'" —Judith Lafitte, Octavia Books, New Orleans, LA
